

Current Issue

Vol. 53 (2026): Developments in Business Simulation and Experiential Learning

Published: 2026-03-11

The Emotional Radar: An Experiential Framework for Teaching AI Product Management and Stakeholder Management

Iryna Okhrymenko

From Classroom to Blackboard: Reimagining Peer Interaction Online Through a Think-Pair-Share Model for Graduate Management learning

Michael Carriger

Bridging the Theory-Practice Gap Through the E3 Learning Experience Framework

Ann-Michelle Levangie

Assignments to build AI literacy and competency among students in undergraduate business programs

Raghu Kurthakoti, Yasuko R. Madison, Annette L. Halpin

Experiential Learning as a Moderator of Entrepreneurial Intention: Student Perception in a UK University

Jason Evans, Clive Kerridge

Experiential Learning Through AI, ARS and Marketing Simulation Integration: Advancing Marketing Strategy Competency

Jennifer Fritch

Examining the Structural Relationships among Inquiry, Autonomy, and Collaboration through a Cooperative Board Game: An Exploratory SEM Study

Yuta Yamazaki, Kaede Fujita, Manabu Ichikawa

 PDF

Succeeding to Fail: When an Experiential Learning Initiative Outgrows its Home

Sara B. Moeller, Christopher Barlow

 PDF

How to Frame Game a Close-Ended Test: Magnifying Power, Instant Feedback, Weighted Distractors, Pacing, and Dynamic Scoreboard

Precha Thavikulwat

 PDF

Scale the Experience, Keep the Rigor: Conservative AI Adoption for Business Strategy Education

Christopher M. Scherpereel

 PDF

Turning AI Drafts into Teachable Moments: A Toulmin-Pragma-Dialectics-Business Framework for Teaching and Assessing AI-Generated Managerial Writing

Christopher M. Scherpereel

 PDF

Tracking Insights Derived and Learning via Decision Support by Simulation Phase

Aspy P. Palia

 PDF

Integrating game-based learning for teaching Agile Project Management: learning Scrum through interactive simulation in Unity

Antonio Vera

 PDF

Do Total Enterprise Simulations (TESs) Address the Learning Outcomes for the Business Strategy Course?

Annette L. Halpin, Rebecca Schmeller

 PDF

A Ready to Play Game: ITO

R. Gabrielle Swab, John N. Harris, Ryan Bruns

 PDF

The ABSEL Conference Program Game: A Frame Game

Precha Thavikulwat

 PDF

AI-Resistant Assessment: Implementing Specifications Grading in Managerial Accounting

Ryan Teeter

 PDF

Vicarious Learning as Experiential Learning: The Case of Movies as Pedagogy

Margaret Arrison Nolan, Raghu Kurthakoti

 PDF

Teaching Ethical Awareness: A Pilot Review of Spirituality and Mindfulness in Management Classrooms

Cheryl Dowie, Ray Wang

 PDF

Learning by Doing - Differently: Exploring the Role of Learner Characteristics in Experiential Education

Kim Abel, Heidi Bartholomew, Elise Boyas, Deb Good, Kiersten Maryott

 PDF

Learning AI by Doing: An Experiential Framework for Developing AI Literacy in Business Education

Kelly Poppe-Gale

 PDF

Embedding Change Management into Project Management Courses

Anthony F. Rodi

 PDF

View All Issues >

Open Journal Systems

Language

English

Español

Information

For Readers

For Authors

For Librarians

Platform &
workflow by
OJS / PKP