

Home > Journal of Business Ethics > Article

Corruption and Companies: The Use of Facilitating Payments

| Published: September 2005

| Volume 60, pages 251–264, (2005) Cite this article

Journal of Business Ethics

Aims and scope →

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

- > Store and/or access information on a device
- > Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

a pernicious effect on the working of public and private administrations: all too often they are the slippery slope to more serious forms of corruption; they impose additional costs on companies and citizens; and in the long run they sap the ethical foundations of organisations. Although many articles on corruption mention facilitating payments, there have been no systematic studies from a company's point of view. This article thus focuses on facilitating payments from the point of view of the company that makes the payment, either as the active partner (when it is the company that takes the initiative) or as the passive partner (when the official or employee is the instigator).

 This is a preview of subscription content, log in via an institution  to check access.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Similar content being viewed by others

Corruption-Specific Security Challenge

Chapter | © 2020

Who suffers and how much from corruption? Evidence from firm-level data

Article | Open access

27 May 2021

Corruption in France: Characteristics of the Phenomenon and Statistical Data

Chapter | © 2018

Explore related subjects

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

July), 134–146.

Google Scholar

Argandoña, A.: 1999, 'Las empresas ante la corrupción', Papeles de Ética, Economía y Dirección 4, 9–20.

A. Argandoña (2000) Sobre la corrupción', in Estudios de Comunicación y Derecho Homenaje al profesor Manuel Fernández Areal Editorial Compostela Santiago 53–71

Google Scholar

Argandoña, A.: 2001a, 'Corruption: The corporate perspective', Business Ethics:

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Dattu, R., J. W. Boscariol and T. Goh: 2000, 'A proactive step against bribery and corruption', Ivey Business Journal (September–October), 71–74.

Dunfee, T. W., N. C. Smith and W. T. Ross: 1999, 'Social contracts and marketing ethics', Journal of Marketing 63(July), 14–32.

B. C. George K. A. Lacey J. Birmele (2000) The 1998 OECD Convention: An impetus for worldwide changes in attitudes toward corruption in business transactions American Business Law Journal 37 2 485–526

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

M. Johnston (1982) Political Corruption and Public Policy in America Brooks Cole Publishing Monterey

Google Scholar

J. G. Kaikati G. M. Sullivan J. M. Virgo T. R. Carr K. S. Virgo (2000) The price of international business morality: Twenty years under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act Journal of Business Ethics 26 3 26 10.1023/A:1006015110422

Article Google Scholar

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

McAndrews, J. and W. Roberts: 1999, 'Payment intermediation and the origins of banking', Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta Working Paper No. 99-11.

J. Moran (1999) Bribery and corruption: The OECD Convention on combating the bribery of foreign public officials in international business transactions Business Ethics: A European Review 8 3 141-150. 10.1111/1467-8608.00142

Article Google Scholar

OECD: 2003, 'Business approaches to combating corrupt practices', Working Papers on International Investment No. 2003/2.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

C. Schemmel (2002a) Should the Criminalisation of Bribery be Extended to the Making of Facilitating Payments? Transparency International Berlin

Google Scholar

C. Schemmel (2002b) Treatment of Facilitating Payments Under National Legislation Implementing the OECD Convention Transparency International Berlin

Google Scholar

A. Shleifer R. Vishny (1994) The politics of market socialism Journal of Economic Perspectives 8 2 165–176

Google Scholar

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

43(December), 754–778.

van Rijckeghem, and B. Weder: 1997, 'Corruption and the rate of temptation: Do low wages in the civil service cause corruption?', IMF Working Paper WP/97/73.

Vincke, F. and F. Heimann: 2003, Fighting Corruption. A Corporate Practices Manual. (International Chamber of Commerce, Paris)

R. Wade (1985) The market for public office: Why the Indian state is no better at development World Development 13 4 467–497 10.1016/0305-750X(85)90052-X

Article Google Scholar

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

About this article

Cite this article

Argandoña, A. Corruption and Companies: The Use of Facilitating Payments. J Bus Ethics 60, 251–264 (2005). <https://doi.org/10.1007/s10551-005-0133-4>

Issue date

September 2005

DOI

<https://doi.org/10.1007/s10551-005-0133-4>

Keywords

Bribery

corruption

extortion

facilitating payments

gifts

grease

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 92 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences