Ethics, CSR, and Sustainability Education in the Financial Times Top 50 Global Business Schools: Baseline Data and Future Research Directions

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 93 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:
> Store and/or access information on a device

> Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

club) in the top 10 schools, and (4) several schools are teaching these topics using experiential learning and immersion techniques. We note a fivefold increase in the number of stand-alone ethics courses since a 1988 investigation on ethics, and we include other findings about institutional support of centers or special programs; as well as a discussion of integration, teaching techniques, and notable practices in relation to all three topics.

This is a preview of subscription content, log in via an institution ⬈ to check access.

Access this article
Log in via an institution →

Sustainable Development at Universities as Viewed Through the Lens of the PROMISE Framework for…

Chapter | © 2017
"Do What I Say, Don't Do What I Do": Challenges on Education for Sustainability

Chapter | © 2018

An Assessment of Sustainability Integration and Communication in Canadian MBA Programs

Article | 05 April 2017

Explore related subjects

Discover the latest articles, books and news in related subjects, suggested using machine learning.

2004, Ethics Education in Business Schools: Report of the Ethics Education Task force to AACSB International's Board of Directors (AACSB, St. Louis, MO)

Biello, D.: 2005, 'Best MBA Programs for Social and Environmental Stewardship – Top 30 MBA Programs', Business Ethics Online 19, 3.

Google Scholar

Bennis W. G., O'Toole J. (2005). How Business Schools Lost Their Way. Harvard Business Review 83(5):96–104

Google Scholar

Crane A., Matten D. (2004). Questioning the Domain of the Business Ethics

Loeb S. E., Ostas D. T. (1996). A Business Ethics Experiential Learning Module: The Maryland Business School Experience. Teaching Business Ethics 1:21–32

Article   Google Scholar

Macfarlane B., Spence L. (2003). Redefining the Scholarship of Business Ethics: An Editorial. Journal of Business Ethics 48:1–6

Article   Google Scholar

Marshall J. D. and M. W. Toffel: (2005), 'Framing the Elusive Concept of Sustainability: A Sustaibility Hierarchy', Environmental Science and Technology 39(3), 673–682.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 93 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Sims R. (2000). Teaching Business Ethics: A Case Study of an Ethics Across the Curriculum Policy. Teaching Business Ethics 7:69–86

Article   Google Scholar

Sims R., Brinkmann J. (2003). Business Ethics Curriculum Design: Suggestions and Illustrations. Teaching Business Ethics 7:69–86

Article   Google Scholar

Swanson, D. and W. C. Frederick: 2005, 'Denial and␣Leadership in Business Ethics Education', in O.␣C.␣Ferrell and R. A. Peterson (eds.), Business Ethics: The␣New Challenge for Business Schools and Corporate Leaders (M.E. Sharpe, Armonk, NY)

Kenan-Flagler Business School, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC, 27599, U.S.A.

Lisa Jones Christensen & Ellen Peirce

DePaul University, 1 E Jackson Blvd., Suite 7000, Chicago, IL, 60604, U.S.A.

Laura P. Hartman

Center for Business Ethics, Bentley College, 175 Forest Street, Walthan, MA, 02452, U.S.A.

W. Michael Hoffman

Bentley College, 175 Forest Street, Walthan, MA, 02452, U.S.A.

Jamie Carrier

Corresponding author consulted with various public and private sector firms, including Johnson & Johnson, Earthbound Farms. Sustainable Harvest, Pioneer Hi-Bred (DuPont), Procter & Gamble, and UNC Hospitals. She received her PhD in organization behavior from UNC Kenan-Flagler, her MBA from the Marriott School and an MA in international development from the David Kennedy School, both at Brigham Young University. Dr. Jones Christensen received her BA from the University of California at Berkeley.

Ellen Peirce is a professor of legal studies and ethics at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Her field of research is in the employment and discrimination area, and she has published many articles on gender and religious discrimination in employment. Her work includes pure legal analysis of employment issues as well as analysis of related organizational behavior issues, including an article on stemming the exodus of women workers. She also has among other journals, Business Ethics Quarterly, Business & Society Review, Business Ethics: A European Review, and the Journal of Business Ethics. Hartman graduated magna cum laude from Tufts University and received her law degree from the University of Chicago Law School.

W. Micheal Hodffman is the founding Executive Director of the Center for Business Ethics and the Hieken Professor of Business and Professional Ethics at Bently College in Waltham, Massachusetts. He received his Ph.D. in philosophy at the University of Massachusetts/Amherst and has been a professor for 36 years in higher education. He has authored or edited 16 books, including Business Ethics: Readings and Cases in Corporate Morality (4th edition), The Ethical Edge, and Ethics Matters, and has published over 70 articles. He consults on business ethics for corporations and other organizations, and serves as an expert witness in litigation. Dr. Hodffman is the managing principal of the Ethics Trust

Cite this article

Keywords

ethics education   CSR   sustainability

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 93 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 93 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences