

Home > Public Choice > Article

Gender Bias and Selection Bias in House Elections

Published: October 2000

Volume 105, pages 41–59, (2000) Cite this article

Public Choice

Aims and scope →

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

- > Store and/or access information on a device
- > Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Access this article

Log in via an institution →

Subscribe and save

✓ Springer+ Basic

€32.70 /Month

- Get 10 units per month
- Download Article/Chapter or eBook
- 1 Unit = 1 Article or 1 Chapter
- Cancel anytime

Subscribe now →

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

References

Ansolabehere, S. and Snyder, J. (1996a). The inter-election dynamics of campaign finance: U.S. House elections, 1980 to 1994. Unpublished manuscript, presented at the 1996 meetings of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco, CA.

Ansolabehere, S. and Snyder, J. (1996b). Money, elections and candidate quality. Unpublished manuscript; presented at the 1996 meetings of the Midwest Political Science Association in Chicago, IL.

Blau, F. and Beller, A. (1988). Trends in earnings differentials by gender, 1971-1981. Industrial and Labor Relations Review 41: 513-529.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Erickson, R. and Palfrey, T. (1998). Campaign spending and incumbency: An alternative simultaneous equations approach. Journal of Politics 60: 355–373.

Google Scholar

Flammers, J. (1997). Women's political voice. Philadelphia: Temple University Press.

Google Scholar

Fox, R. and Smith, E. (1998). The role of candidate sex in voter decision-making. Political Psychology 19: 405–419.

Google Scholar

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Heckman, J. (1979). Sample selection bias as a specification error. Econometrica 47: 153-161.

Google Scholar

Herrick, R. (1996). Is there a gender gap in the value of campaign resources? American Politics Quarterly 24: 68-80.

Google Scholar

Hersch, P. and McDougall, G. (1994). Campaign war chests as a barrier to entry in congressional races. Economic Inquiry 32: 630-641.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Leeper, M. (1991). The impact of prejudice on female candidates. American Politics Quarterly 19: 248-261.

Google Scholar

Levitt, S. (1994). Using repeat challengers to estimate the effects of campaign spending on election outcomes in the U.S. House. Journal of Political Economy 102: 777-798.

Google Scholar

Levitt, S. and Wolfram, C. (1996). Decomposing the sources of incumbency advantage in the U.S. House. Legislative Studies Quarterly 22: 45-60.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Society in New Orleans, LA.

Squire, P. (1989). Competition and uncontested seats in U.S. House elections. Legislative Studies Quarterly 14: 281-295.

Google Scholar

Squire, P. (1995). Candidates, money and votes. Political Research Quarterly 48: 891-917.

Google Scholar

Uhlener, C. and Schlozman, K. (1986). Candidate gender and campaign receipts. Journal of Politics 48: 30-50.

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

About this article

Cite this article

Milyo, J., Schosberg, S. Gender Bias and Selection Bias in House Elections. Public Choice 105, 41–59 (2000). <https://doi.org/10.1023/A:1005198906982>

Issue Date

October 2000

DOI

<https://doi.org/10.1023/A:1005198906982>

Keywords

Public Finance

Vote Share

Quality Difference

Candidate Quality

House Election

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences

Your privacy, your choice

We use essential cookies to make sure the site can function. We, and our 96 partners, also use optional cookies and similar technologies for advertising, personalisation of content, usage analysis, and social media.

By accepting optional cookies, you consent to allowing us and our partners to store and access personal data on your device, such as browsing behaviour and unique identifiers. Some third parties are outside of the European Economic Area, with varying standards of data protection. See our privacy policy for more information on the use of your personal data. Your consent choices apply to springer.com and applicable subdomains.

You can find further information, and change your preferences via 'Manage preferences'. You can also change your preferences or withdraw consent at any time via 'Your privacy choices', found in the footer of every page.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes:

Store and/or access information on a device

Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Accept all cookies

Reject optional cookies

Manage preferences