

Migration and Financial Transfers: UK-Somalia

Anna Lindley
Oxford University

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.25071/1920-7336.21351>

Keywords: United Kingdom, Somalia, Somali migrants, forced migration, transnationalism, households, livelihoods, remittances, refugees

Abstract

Migrants' financial transfers have been estimated to be Somalia's largest source of revenue. The UK is believed to be a significant source of these financial transfers to Somalia. Drawing on preliminary ethnographic research in the UK during 2004, this paper firstly presents some empirical observations on the dynamics of these movements of people and money between the UK and Somalia and other parts of the Horn of Africa. Secondly, it asks, in contexts of forced migration, what is the relevance of the popular concept of migrants' financial transfers as part of a "transnational household livelihood strategy"? Notions of household, strategy, and what it means to send money in such contexts are critically reviewed. The analysis concludes with some challenges to common assumptions regarding refugees' economic actions.

Captures
Readers: 15

see details

Metrics

Metrics Loading ...

Refuge

CANADA'S JOURNAL
ON REFUGEES

REVUE CANADIENNE
SUR LES RÉFUGIÉS

SPECIAL ISSUE

REFUGEE DISPORAS AND TRANSNATIONALISM

Vol 23 • No 2 • 2006

Published

2006-12-01

How to Cite

Lindley, A. (2006). Migration and Financial Transfers: UK-Somalia. Refuge: Canada's Journal on Refugees, 23(2), 20-27.

<https://doi.org/10.25071/1920-7336.21351>

More Citation Formats

Issue

Vol. 23 No. 2 \(2006\): Refugee Diasporas and Transnationalism

Section

Feature Articles

License

Copyright (c) 2006 Anna Lindley

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International License.

Refuge authors retain the copyright over their work, and license it to the general public under the Creative Commons Attribution-Non Commercial License International \(CC BY-NC 4.0\). This license allows for non-commercial use, reproduction and adaption of the material in any medium or format, with proper attribution. For general information on Creative Commons licences, visit the Creative Commons site. For the CC BY-NC 4.0 license, review the human readable summary.

Scopus®

0

Similar Articles

- Refuge 32.3 General Issue with Special Focus on Age Discrimination in Forced Migration Law, Policy and Practice \(print version\), Refuge: Canada's Journal on Refugees: Vol. 32 No. 3 \(2016\):

General Issue, with Special Focus on Age Discrimination in Forced Migration Law, Policy and Practice

- Refuge 30.1 \(General Issue\) Print Copy, Refuge: Canada's Journal on Refugees: Vol. 30 No. 1 \(2014\): General Issue
- Refuge, Refuge \(38.2\) 2022 - General Issue \(print copy\), Refuge: Canada's Journal on Refugees: Vol. 38 No. 2 \(2022\): General Issue

You may also start an advanced similarity search for this article.

Tweets by RefugeJournal

Language

English

Français

Make a Submission

Keywords

chechen-russian conflict
state
unprofor
hutus
unro
moscow
cr/dc
resource extraction
trade
refugee flows
back matter
crises
population growth
policies
awr
reformulation project
islam
kivu
safe areas
tutsis

Refuge ISSNs: 1920-7336 (electronic); 0220-5113 (print)

A member of:

Platform &
workflow by
OJS / PKP