

Tax subsidies finance construction and hard energy path

JOURNAL ARTICLE

Power Line; (United States)

OSTI ID: 5579462

Morgan, R E

US taxpayers pay at least $27 billion a year to cover tax benefits for energy development, most of which is non-renewable energy sources and poses environmental and safety hazards. Federal tax policy promotes conventional energy sources at the expense of more benign alternatives such as efficiency improvements. The Accelerated Cost Recovery System (Expand >

OSTI ID:
5579462

Journal Information:
Power Line; (United States), Vol. 10:5

Country of Publication:
United States

Language:
English

Similar Records

Preliminary Evaluation of the Impact of the Section 1603 Treasury Grant Program on Renewable Energy Deployment in 2009

Technical Report · Wed Mar 31 00:00:00 EDT 2010 · OSTI ID: 983046

Bolinger, Mark; Wisner, Ryan; Darghouth, Naim

Property Tax Assessments as a Finance Vehicle for Residential PV Installations: Opportunities and Potential Limitations

Technical Report · Fri Feb 01 00:00:00 EST 2008 · OSTI ID: 934725

Bolinger, Mark A; Bolinger, Mark

Related Subjects

29 ENERGY PLANNING
POLICY AND ECONOMY
ELECTRIC UTILITIES
ENERGY POLICY
SUBSIDIES
TAX CREDITS
ENERGY CONSERVATION
NATURAL GAS INDUSTRY
PETROLEUM INDUSTRY
RENEWABLE ENERGY
SOURCES
FINANCIAL INCENTIVES
INVESTMENT

Exploring the Economic Value of EAct 2005's PV Tax

Credits

Book · Sat Aug 01 00:00:00 EDT 2009 · OSTI ID: 980754

Bolinger, Mark A; Wisner, Ryan; Ing, Edwin

ENERGY SOURCES

GOVERNMENT POLICIES

INDUSTRY

PUBLIC UTILITIES

290200* - Energy Planning

& Policy- Economics

& Sociology

293000 - Energy Planning

& Policy- Policy

Legislation

& Regulation

Office of Scientific and Technical Information

 Website Policies / Important Links |  Contact Us

Vulnerability Disclosure Program

