Acknowledgements

Of the authors, only Renata Varea and Andreas Neef participated in the fieldwork. The other four Fijian researchers (Glenn Finau, Romitesh Kant, Jope Tarai and Jason Titifanue) have contributed to this essay by corroborating the survey and fieldwork materials with other sources of information including their own experiences of Tropical Cyclone Winston in Suva and nearby areas, as well as interviews with NGO and church leaders and collation of broader public discussions in the traditional media and in social media fora (Cox et al. 2018; Finau et al. 2018). The first author, John Cox, has experience of consulting on disaster management with Red Cross in Fiji, Solomon Islands and Kiribati and has helped to structure the argument of this paper. The final order of authors was determined by the contribution of each author to the paper. However, this has been a collaborative effort and all authors have contributed to the paper.
