

International Review of Sociology >
Revue Internationale de Sociologie

Volume 24, 2014 - Issue 1

409 | 4
Views | CrossRef citations to date | Altmetric

Articles

Economics, psychotherapy and politics

Andrew Samuels

Pages 77-90 | Received 10 Jun 2012, Accepted 14 Dec 2012, Published online: 09 Apr 2014

Cite this article <https://doi.org/10.1080/03906701.2014.894348>

Sample our Social Sciences
Journals
>> Sign in here to start your access to the latest two volumes for 14 days

Full Article

Figures & data

References

Citations

Metrics

Reprints & Permissions

Read this article

Share

Abstract

The paper explores the application of ideas derived from psychotherapy to questions of economic and social policy. It is argued that disputes concerning human nature underlie many debates on economic theory. Class is reviewed from internal and emotional perspectives. Psychological obstacles to the achievement of economic inequality are explored and ways of overcoming them critically discussed. Particular attention is paid to the operation of economic sadism in the behaviour of individuals and societies. A range of possible gender differences in relation to money is reviewed. Inherited wealth is explored from the perspective of 'therapy thinking'. The paper proposes that we reconsider what is deemed to be realistic and what is deemed to be (hopelessly) idealistic in thinking about economics. The paper concludes by proposing a deeper discussion of the problematic of sacrifice in connection with sustainable economics.

Keywords:

Notes on contributor

Andrew Samuels is well-known internationally as a commentator on social and political issues from a depth psychological point of view. Over the past 30 years, he has developed a clinical blend of Jungian and post-Jungian, humanistic and relational psychoanalytic approaches. He is a Training Analyst of the Society of Analytical Psychology in private practice in London and a founder Board Member of the International Association for Relational Psychoanalysis and Psychotherapy. He was co-founder of Psychotherapists and Counsellors for Social Responsibility in the UK and is currently the Chair of the United Kingdom Council for Psychotherapy. He received the 2003 Hans W. Loewald Award from the International Federation for Psychoanalytic Education and is a former Scientific Associate of the American Academy of Psychoanalysis. He is Professor of Analytical Psychology at Essex, Visiting Adjunct Clinical Professor in the post-doctoral program in psychoanalysis at New York, Visiting Professor of Psychoanalytic Studies at London, and Honorary Professor of Psychology and Therapeutic Studies at Roehampton. Publications have been translated into 19 languages and include Jung and the Post-Jungians (1985), The Father (1986), A Critical Dictionary of Jungian Analysis (1986), Psychopathology (1989), The Plural Psyche (1989), The Political Psyche (1993), Relational Psychotherapy, Psychoanalysis and: Appraisals and Reappraisals (2014), and Persons, Passions, Psychotherapy, Politics (2014) the award-winning Politics on the Couch (2001), www.andrewsamuels.com

Related research

People also read

Recommended articles

Cited by

4

Information for

Authors

R&D professionals

Editors

Librarians

Societies

Opportunities

Reprints and e-prints

Advertising solutions

Accelerated publication

Corporate access solutions

Open access

Overview

Open journals

Open Select

Dove Medical Press

F1000Research

Help and information

Help and contact

Newsroom

All journals

Books

Keep up to date

Register to receive personalised research and resources
by email

 Sign me up

Copyright © 2026 Informa UK Limited

Privacy policy

Cookies

Terms & conditions

Accessibility

 Taylor and Francis Group

Registered in England & Wales No. 01072954
5 Howick Place | London | SW1P 1WG