We Care About Your Privacy

We and our 899 partners store and access personal data, like browsing data or unique identifiers, on your device. Selecting "I Accept" enables tracking technologies to support the purposes shown under "we and our partners process data to provide," whereas selecting "Reject All" or withdrawing your consent will disable them. If trackers are disabled, some content and ads you see may not be as relevant to you. You can resurface this menu to change your choices or withdraw consent at any time by clicking the ["privacy preferences"] link on the bottom of the webpage [or the floating icon on the bottom-left of the webpage, if applicable]. Your choices will have effect within our Website. For more details, refer to our Privacy Policy. Here

Acknowledgements

The research reported in this paper was funded by DFID, but the views and opinions expressed are those of the authors alone. DFID supports policies, programmes, and projects to promote international development and poverty reduction. We thank our collaborators Fatima Alikhan (Osmania University, Hyderabad, India), Elizabeth Ardayfio-Schandorf (University of Legon, Ghana), Saraswati Raju (Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, India), Emma Zapata (Colegio de Postgraduados, Mexico), Brian Pratt, and the late Peter Oakley (INTRAC, UK). Our deepest thanks to the NGO staff and key informants who have made this publication possible by being so generous with their knowledge. Thanks also to Jo Maher and Su Fei Tan for reading a draft of this paper and making suggestions.

Notes

Janet Townsend is a Research Fellow in Geography at the University of Durham. Her interest in NGOs came from women pioneer settlers in Latin American rainforests, when Mexican respondents proved to see NGOs as the best prospective outside help.
