

Home ▶ All Journals ▶ New Political Economy ▶ List of Issues ▶ Volume 15, Issue 3 ► Fair Trade, Free Trade and the State

New Political Economy > Volume 15, 2010 - Issue 3

4.652 8

Views CrossRef citations to date Altmetric

COMMENTARY

Fair Trade, Free Trade and the State

Gavin Fridell

Pages 457-470 | Published online: 09 Sep 2010

Sample our Politics & International Relations Journals >> Sign in here to start your access

Full Article

Figures & data

References

66 Citations

Metrics

Reprints & Permissions

Read this article

We Care About Your Privacy

We and our 845 partners store and/or access information on a device, such as unique IDs in cookies to process personal data. You may accept or manage your choices by clicking below, including your right to object where legitimate interest is used, or at any time in the privacy policy page. These choices will be signaled to our partners and will not affect browsing data. Privacy Policy

Show Purpose

Essential Onl

I Accept

We and our partners process data to provide:

Use precise geolocation data. Actively scan device characteristics for identification. Store and/or access information on a device. Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development.

List of Partners (vendors)

X

COMMENTARY

Fair Trade, Free Trade and the State

GAVIN FRIDELL

In autumn 2007, I was contacted by a staff member of a new policy journal on the Americas and asked to submit an article on fair trade for an upcoming issue on corporate social responsibility. I was surprised by this request, given that my own work draws heavily on critical political economy and the journal is jointly run by the Americas Society and the Council of the Americas, the latter being a 'premier international business organization' whose corporate members share an explicit devotion to promoting free trade and 'open markets'. I expressed some hesitation to the staff member, who assured me that fair trade issues were of particular interest to the journal's readership. She then added that the editors wanted me to develop an article that was 'forward-looking' and went beyond the basic issues of fair trade to advance a broader policy point. I replied that this would be an excellent idea, as I could write a piece arguing for the need for national and international bodies to adopt fair trade as a matter of state policy, which would entail developing strong international regulations for commodity prices and social, labour and environmental standards. After a short pause, the staff member replied 'you can't say that, that's ideological'.

This telling anecdote is demonstrative of a growing attitude among corporate actors and pro-corporate advocates who in the last few years have shown increasing enthusiasm for fair trade, which they view as compatible with the current free trade agenda of international financial institutions and powerful Northern states. This view is at odds not just with my own understanding of fair trade, but, I would argue, with the traditional vision of the majority of fair trade organisations which have, in moral and political terms, generally understood fair trade as a direct challenge to free trade and the overall negliberal policy package, which includes

The author would like to thank the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada for project funding. Special thanks to Cecil Ryan and all of those who agreed to be interviewed in SVG, as well as Kate Ervine, Mark Gabbert, Cecilia Green, Martijn Konings, Liisa North, Marcus Taylor and Alissa Trotz.

See the Council of the Americas, http://coa.counciloftheamericas.org/page.php?
k=about [Accessed 18 November 2008].

These perspectives are emphasised to varying degrees by different authors (see Fridell 2006).

Cecil Ryan (Chairman of SVBGA), Interviews with Author, 9 and 31 July 2008; Lesley Grant (SVBGA Manager), Interview with Author, 9 July 2008.

Grant Interview; Sylvester Vanloo (SVBGA Product Manager), Interview with Author, 9 July 2008.

Reuben Robertson (Chief Agricultural Officer, SVG), Interview with Author, 16 July 2008; Ryan Interview; Grant Interview; Vanloo Interview.

Prime Minister Ralph Gonsalves (SVG), Interview with Author, 15 July 2008.

Arthur Bobb (WINFA Manager), Interview with Author, 25 July 2008.

These observations are based on 27 interviews with government representatives and farmers conducted in SVG in July 2008 (see also Moberg 2005).

The min with the July 2008, exception 40 lb box, fair trad which w for public Ryan, In eter for discl ne UK as it price etail prices would be e in the over a lo South. Bobb Int

Grant Interview.

See TransFair USA, Available from:

http://www.transfairusa.org/content/about/mission.php [Accessed 26 November 2008].

Related Research Data

Trading on the Offshore: Territorialization and the Ocean Grab in the International

Seabed

Source: Palgrave Macmillan UK

ALBA: A decolonial delinking performance towards (western) modernity - An alternative to development project

Source: Taylor & Francis Group

Linking provided by Schole plorer

Recommended articles Cited by People also read X

Information for Open access Authors Overview R&D professionals Open journals Editors Open Select Librarians Dove Medical Press Societies F1000Research Opportunities Help and information Reprints and e-prints Advertising solutions Newsroom Accelerated publication Corporate access solutions Books Keep up to date Register to receive personalised research and resources by email Sign me up Taylor & Francis Group Copyright © 2024 Informa UK Limited Privacy policy Cookies Terms & conditions Accessib X

