Notes

- <sup>1</sup> Uteseksjonen is organized under the Alcohol and Drug Addiction Service in Oslo municipality. The service is responsible for identifying and supporting vulnerable children and young people, and for providing support to adults with drug problems. The service is also responsible for providing support to families and communities.
- <sup>2</sup> The Commission of the European Communities (CEC) is a vulnerable population of people who are drug users and who are at risk of being taken up by the police. The Commission is also responsible for the implementation of the <sup>5</sup> Drug law violations are covered by the General civil penal code's §§ 162, 162b, 317, parts 4 and 5, and the Act relating to medicines etc. (see § 31, part 2).

<sup>6</sup> All translations are by my translator, with the exception of published translations of law.

<sup>9</sup> SSB does not publish tables clarifying both geographic areas and reported crime which distinguish between different types of drug law violations. Report numbers published by police are close to those published by SSB and in most cases only deviate with single digits below the SSB numbers.

<sup>10</sup> The statistics only show an increase in police reports for the last two years. This could indicate a shorter-term increase based on a special focus on these cases over the last few
